Movement II · What Every Human Needs

Someone Who Will Tell You No

The series question: "And who is my neighbor?" (Luke 10:29)

PROVERBS 27:6 Faithful are the wounds of one who loves, and being plentiful are the kisses of one who hates.

READ ALONG: Proverbs 27:6; 2 Samuel 11:27; 2 Samuel 12:1–7, 13

Follow along

1. What story did Nathan tell, and how did David react?

2. Why might Nathan have told a story instead of making an accusation?

3. Proverbs says the wounds of one who loves are faithful. What does that mean?

4. Why did no one around the king tell him the truth?

5. Who in your life will tell you no?

6. When someone corrects you, what do you do first?

7. Have you surrounded yourself with people who agree with you?

THE ONE QUESTION

Who still has permission to tell you no?

- 1. Whose no have you been avoiding?

The empty chair. Every week one chair at our table stays empty. It is for the person you would never invite.
