Follow along

1. What did Jesus tell the tired disciples to do first?

2. What did he feel when he saw the crowd, and why?

3. What did the disciples suggest, and what did Jesus tell them instead?

4. What does the order of the passage show: compassion, teaching, bread?

5. Which part comes most naturally to you, and which is hardest?

6. When have you met someone desperate and offered only words, or only help?

7. What would change in your assembly if teaching and bread were never separated?

THE ONE QUESTION

What did Jesus do first when he saw desperate people?

- 1. Who near you is hungry in a way a sermon won't fix?
- 2. What "send them away" are you tempted to say this week?

The empty chair. Every week one chair at our table stays empty. It is for the person you would never invite.
